Why Innovation Isn't Dead: A Look at Our Technology Future

Vivek Wadhwa believes that this will be the most innovative decade in human history. Learn how exponentially advancing and “disruptive” technologies—in fields such as robotics, A.I., computing, synthetic biology, 3D printing, medicine and nanomaterials — will enable us to start solving humanity’s grand challenges.

Concurrent Education Sessions – Group A

A1: What's Next for the DSCSA? A Roadmap to
2023|Springs Ballroom Salon F

Sponsored by  Verify  WDSrx
brand

The next major milestone under the Drug Supply Chain Security Act (DSCSA) will occur later in 2017, when manufacturers must begin to apply identifiers to their products. However, the DSCSA's requirements don't stop there, and there are a series of stepping stones between now and 2023 when enhanced traceability is fully effective. This session will delve into the DSCSA's future requirements: cover what is required and when, how the milestones are interrelated with each other and what they may mean for your company, your customers and your suppliers.

Brian P.
Waldman, Partner, Arent
Fox LLP

A2: Break-Out Discussion with the Drug Enforcement
Administration |Springs Ballroom Salons A-D

(Closed to the media)

Sponsored by  LEGISYN

Interact with DEA and discuss specific issues related to the Controlled Substances Act, as well as the compliance obligations and expectations of DEA registrants.

Demetra Ashley, Deputy
Assistant Administrator,
Office of Diversion

Control, U.S. Drug
Enforcement
Administration (DEA)

A3: Interviewing and Deception: Deciphering Truth
from Fiction |Desert Ballroom Salons 1-3

Sponsored by

Whether interviewing current or prospective staff, or discussing business with a client or customer, would you be able to detect deceptive responses? Review different interview methods, such as the Reid model, PEACE method and the cognitive load theory and how they are used to separate truth from fiction. Learn about statement analysis and how to recognize when automatic social psychological behaviors betray us when we choose to lie.

Michael Bret
Hood, Director, 21st Century Learning &
Consulting

A4: NEW - Clinical Data Gatekeepers and Specialty
Pharmacy |Desert Ballroom Salons 4-6

Sponsored by

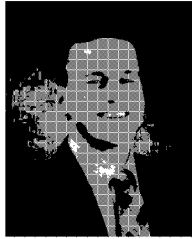

Specialty pharmacy and distribution are comprised of very expensive products. Many of those require very high touch clinical components. In this session, we will review high level specialty pharmacy distribution methods, review the role that some compendia play as the gatekeepers of clinical data and explore a few product examples.

Alisha Nielsen, Vice President, Two Labs
Marketing

A5: Challenges and Opportunities in Contracts and Chargebacks Administration: A Panel
Discussion|Desert Ballroom Salons 9-11

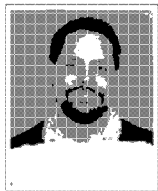

Hear about the industry challenges and opportunities in the world of contracts and chargebacks administration. The session will feature insights from panelists who will share lessons learned as well as trends identified that are dynamically shaping the industry.

Concurrent Education Sessions – Group B

B1: Data and Bar Code Management |Springs Ballroom Salon F

Sponsored by

This session will cover DSCSA-related data standards, including EPCIS, and highlight helpful resources for your company's implementation of DSCSA. Given the importance of EPCIS data matching the data encoded in and on product bar codes, this session will share examples of lessons learned through operations and pilots that will become changes to HDA's bar code guidelines.

C1: Meeting the 2017 Serialization Deadlines |Springs Ballroom Salon F

Sponsored by

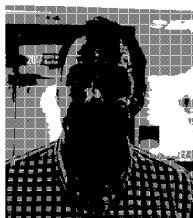

With fewer than 40 weeks remaining before the November 27, 2017, DSCSA requirements go into effect, manufacturers are experiencing varying levels of challenges to ensure that their entire product portfolio can be serialized at the unit and case levels with the resulting data stored and accessible by authorized personnel. According to a recent survey, 46 percent of manufacturers are not “well-equipped” to achieve DSCSA compliance for this deadline. Whether you are behind the eight-ball or ahead of the curve, this session will provide practical solutions to help your company comply — no matter your stage of readiness. Topics to discuss will include third-party logistics, data collection and transmittal, track and trace, compliance assessment and solution implementation. Finally, attendees will explore potential solutions and associated considerations to reduce the risk of non-compliance.

C2: The Public Health Balancing Act: Ensuring Access to Pain Management and the Ongoing Addiction
Crisis|Springs Ballroom Salons A-D

This session will discuss the opioid addiction crisis and examine proposed solutions. Participants will hear from researchers about the pharmacology of pain and the impact of abuse-deterrent formulations. Potential federal and state regulatory approaches also will be considered.

C3: Working with the Next Generation of
Leaders|Desert Ballroom Salons 1-3

Sponsored by

Articles, studies and assessments point out the differences between millennials and other generations in the workplace, but there may be more similarities than differences. And for both generations, cultivating a successful career requires continuous learning and personal accountability. In this session, participants will learn the difference between serving as a mentor, coach or sponsor; the importance of building your personal brand; where professionals get "stuck"; and behavior adjustments that will help change your career trajectory.

Carla Howard, Mentor,
The Professional
Woman's Mentor LLC

C4: Biosimilars: Challenges and Lessons

Learned|Desert Ballroom Salons 4-6

Sponsored by

What has been learned from other markets that have successfully introduced biosimilars, and how can these lessons be applied to bring new products to market? Additionally, review current biosimilar regulations and how to successfully navigate the approval process.

Concurrent Education Sessions – Group D

D1: Unlocking the Value of Traceability Data |Springs
Ballroom Salon F

Sponsored by

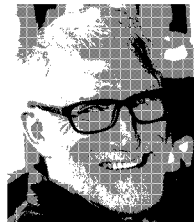

To date, members of the supply chain have been primarily focused on serialization and product tracing to meet DSCSA compliance efforts. Many, however, are realizing other potential uses for traceability data, including additional business opportunities, optimizing efficiencies and processes internally, as well as overlapping regulatory data for larger trends (e.g., ARCOS, PDMPs). This session will address opportunities for your company to gain further value through the use of data analytics.

Pari Sanghavi, Global Practice Head – Supply Chain & Manufacturing, Cognizant Business Consulting for Life Sciences, Cognizant Technology Solutions

D2: Evolving Good Distribution Practices |Springs Ballroom Salons A-D

Good Distribution Practices (GDP) continue to evolve in the U.S. and around the world. In this session, attendees will learn about a new approach that the U.S. Pharmacopeia is considering to revise its General Chapter on GDP. Attendees also will learn about the GDP roadmap and toolkit released in February 2017, by the Regulatory Harmonization Steering Committee within the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC). Learn how these resources may impact pharmaceutical distribution in the U.S. and in the Asia-Pacific region.

Christopher J. Anderson, Director, Quality Systems, Cardinal Health, Inc.

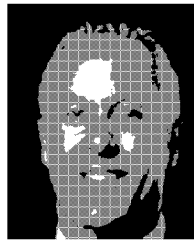

Ruth Miller, Senior Director, Regulatory Affairs, Healthcare Distribution Alliance

D3: Securing the Supply Chain: A Case Study on Today's Sophisticated Healthcare Fraud Schemes|Desert Ballroom Salons 1-3

(Closed to the media)

The FBI, FDA and Homeland Security are increasingly uncovering complex organized crime schemes designed to corrupt the pharmaceutical supply chain. One such career criminal, previously twice convicted for committing healthcare fraud and selling counterfeit Rx medicines, generated $80 million in gross sales in just 14 months by billing bogus prescriptions to unsuspecting Medicare patients, selling the medicines to unwitting wholesalers and pharmacies throughout the U.S. at deep discounts below WAC, and providing false paper pedigrees in the process.

Hear from a former undercover agent for both the DEA and FDA – Office of Criminal Investigations as he takes the audience inside the criminal scheme and how the criminals intentionally and knowingly circumvented FDA pedigree laws.

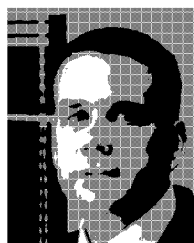

Aaron Graham, Executive Director - Brand Safety & Security, Boehringer Ingelheim Pharmaceuticals, Inc.

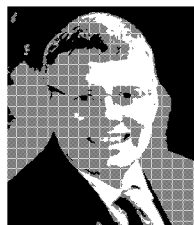

D4: Role of Specialty Pharmaceutical Distribution|Desert Ballroom Salons 4-6

Sponsored by

The growth of specialty medicines has blurred distribution channels and expanded the range of customers of these new products. This session will explore the value and services that traditional full-line and specialty distributors bring to both manufacturers and dispensers while efficiently ensuring patient access.

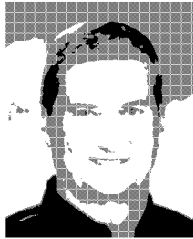

Christopher R. Doerr, Senior Director, Trade Relations, Teva Pharmaceuticals USA

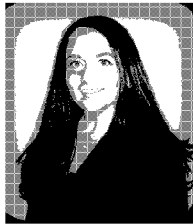

Michael Kody, Pharmaceutical Supply Chain Advisor, PHARMACOSTS.COM

Greg Yonko, President, GY Consulting LLC

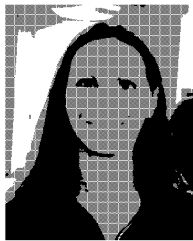

D5: Managing Contracts and Chargebacks: Distributor-Hosted Roundtables – Part 2 |Desert Ballroom Salons 9-11

Learn from several distributors about the critical issues, opportunities and other details professionals need to know in the world of contract and chargeback administration. Table hosts will rotate to each group of attendees to discuss such topics as returns and negative chargebacks, processes and systems issues. A summary of key themes from the roundtable discussions as shared by a panel of participating table hosts will conclude the session.

Distribution Management Award Presentation

Celebrate supply chain excellence with the presentation of the 2017 Distribution Management Award and the Distribution Management Award for Industry Leadership. The Distribution Management Award honors HDA member companies' efforts to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of the healthcare supply chain and enhance relationships with their trading partners through innovative business process improvements. The Distribution Management Award for Industry Leadership recognizes an individual who has exhibited the highest standards of honesty and integrity, working tirelessly to enhance industry relations and knowledge, as well as supply chain efficiency and security.

What's In, What's Out, What's Ahead: 2017 Marketplace Trends

Specializing in analyzing information from QuintilesIMS' premier sales, prescription, promotional and medical databases, Doug Long will take a first look at the latest industry data and emerging market trends for branded and generic pharmaceutical and health and beauty care product sales. Long will offer his perspective on a range of vital pharmaceutical topics, including global market trends, industry forecasts, research and development, marketing practices, blockbuster drugs, patent expirations and generic trends, biotechnology and more. He also will analyze how emerging trends will affect strategic business plans in the coming year and beyond.

E2: DEA Requirements for the Supply Chain |Springs
Ballroom Salons A-D

(Closed to the media)

This session will enhance your understanding of DEA requirements in an evolving regulatory environment. Attendees will consider the latest information from DEA relating to suspicious orders, due diligence and effective controls. Has the Masters case, which involved DEA's oversight of distributor compliance under the Controlled Substances Act (CSA), changed the landscape? What is your obligation to use the data you collect? In this interactive session, attendees will review specific scenarios, determine whether reporting is or is not required, then debrief as a group.

E3: Automating the Distribution Center and
DSCSA|Desert Ballroom Salons 1-3

Pharmaceutical and healthcare distribution centers can take many forms. This session will present a virtual reality-type walk through of a distribution center and video of the latest distribution center technologies and data collection in action. Following, a panel of industry leaders — who are successfully implementing leading edge, new technologies — will share their thoughts, challenges and experiences. Whether your distribution center is managed by a third party logistics provider, a co-op group, a distributor or a manufacturer, or if you have never visited a distribution center at all, you will gain actionable takeaways from this fast-paced presentation and panel discussion.

F1: Tools for Accurate Master Data — the GTIN Repository Service and HDA's Updated Standard Pharmaceutical Product Form |Springs Ballroom Salon F

Sponsored by

HDA is launching a GTIN Repository Service with ValueCentric, LLC, to help ensure the efficient introduction of a GTIN coding system and ease its adoption across the pharmaceutical supply chain. Product specifications are currently being designed with input from the HDA member community. Ultimately, the service, anticipated to launch in the third quarter of this year will provide:

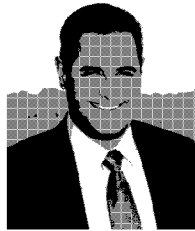

- An easy-to-use central GTIN repository to ensure the efficient and accurate exchange of pharmaceutical product master data between manufacturers and their supply chain partners;
- Further compliance with the DSCSA;
- Real-time access to a self-service, cloud-based portal that allows for manufacturers to upload, update, and share product information quickly with their downstream partners; and,
- A foundation for using product serialization data to advance industry logistics planning, analysis, and reporting.

This session will provide further detail on this repository and how it will meet a critical industry need for the management of master data. Attendees will learn how they can get involved in the development of the repository prior to its launch.

What is a Leader?

In September 2015, the U.S. Army officially opened one of the most difficult combat training courses in the world, Ranger School, to female candidates for the first time. Army Major Lisa Jaster immediately signed up for the intensive, 61-day-long leadership course. Months later, sleep-deprived and carrying an 80-pound rucksack for miles on end alongside 23-year-old trainees, the wife and mother of two would reflect on one simple question: Why?

Learn about the lessons Jaster learned in her journey to become one of only three women to ever graduate the program. This inspiring story aims to help you become a better leader, serve others and, above all, understand that only you can decide what you are capable of achieving.
